How would you rate your guide? (Guide's name Felix)

Compliments and constructive criticism are both welcomed!

Felix did a great job - brought a lot of character to the trek. Thanks for the little lessons + stories. I do wish we could've looked at the map for a reference.

Did trip meet your expectations/-was the trip well described on the website?

Yes No

It would've been nice to have a daily briefing about what to expect/look out for - even just a copy of the itineraries. Of course, we could've printed one ourselves...

What did you think of the route? The first part of the trip was a good challenge - it was nice to get right in to the "meat" of the trek. Once we hooked up to the Salkantay it was a little strange, just walking on a flat road. Not much to be done about that, though.

How were your meals? (Cook's name Alfredo)

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 10

Any comments about the meals? Great job! Vegetarian options were well done (replacing meat w/cheese or egg, not just adding more rice). Would've loved more quinoa or brown rice. Some breakfasts were a little small for the hike ahead.

What was the highlight of your trip?

Climbing up to Choquequirao + looking down the valley at sunset felt like a real accomplishment. I also really liked hiking up through the valley on the 6th day.

What ONE thing could be done to MOST improve your Apus Peru experience?

Having a map to look at

Any other comments?

Great trek! Glad we got to see some less touristed places + beautiful scenery.
